TO-DO:

1) Write a function called “operate” that does the following: you pass two arguments and your function makes them twice bigger. Check your function by running some tests in main().

2) Write a function that changes original string by concatenating it with another one taken from user. Check your function by running some tests in main().